What is an Aging & Disability Resource Center?

Aging and Disability Resource Centers (ADRCs) are the first place to go to get accurate, unbiased information on all aspects of life related to aging or living with a disability. ADRCs are friendly, welcoming places where anyone -- individuals, concerned families or friends, or professionals working with issues related to aging or disabilities -- can go for information specifically tailored to their situation.

The ADRC provides information on a broad range of programs and services, helps people understand the various long term care options available to them, helps people apply for programs and benefits, and serves as the access point for publicly-funded long term care. These services can be provided at the ADRC, via telephone, or through a home visit, whichever is more convenient to the individual seeking help.

WELCOME TO adrcinformation.org

"When it became clear that my mom couldn't live on her own anymore, I didn't know where to start, what options were available, or even how we'd be able to pay for the care she was going to need."

You can call our ADRC locations, stop in, or use our website, ADRCInformation.org to search for local providers, learn about different options, interact with the community, and find information about the Aging & Disability Resource Center nearest you!

Home Care-Skilled vs Non-Skilled Services

Our directory has a section for Home Health Agencies that provide either skilled, non-skilled or both services. Below is a brief description explaining the differences:

Skilled Nursing:

These services provide medically necessary skilled nursing that is provided by a medical professional in you or your loved one's home when prescribed by a physician. This includes nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech-language therapy. If individuals are eligible for skilled services, they can also receive part-time assistance with personal care needs from a home health aide. You or your loved one are required to be "homebound" as a condition for these services. Home health is covered under the Part A Medicare or Medical Assistance.

These services may include but is not limited to:

- Initial assessment and evaluations
- Pre- and post-operative care
- Skilled nursing assessment with obtaining and monitoring vitals
- Catheter care/change
- Diabetic care
- Infusion therapies
- Lab draws/injections/IV therapies
- Wound care/dressing change
- Wound vac competent care
- Tube feeding, G-tube care and teaching
- Orthopedics
- Pulmonary care
- Medication management and administration
- Central line and port maintenance

Non-skilled services:

Non-skilled services include homemakers, companions and chore persons to assist individuals who need help with things such as meal preparation, shopping, escort to doctor visits and other errands. They also can provide help with laundry, light housekeeping, and companionship. You can obtain services through agencies by private payment. Please contact the agencies directly for details about the services they offer and the costs involved.
